Great, but how do we get that scan code down to the servo? You could just waste a sheet of paper and print it out, or make a link on your phone. You need an active data connection to make this easy although you could do a screenshot at home.

It is relatively easy to do

On your Android phone open Chrome

Navigate to

Once activated, your barcode will only remain valid for 15 minutes. Offer can be redeemed once per day.

How to redeem your discount

Scan the barcode above at the register
At all EG Ampol locations

Get an extra 8c per litre

Additional 4c off per litre

Scan your Everyday Rewards card at the register

Valid when you spend $30 or more at Woolworths

Additional 4c off per litre

Show the code to the cashier before paying and you get your 5c off. If you have a Woolworths Everyday Rewards card you can also get another 4c off for a total of 9c/lit discount. By the way the scan code in the above picture will not work, it is just an example.

Easy. Next step is optional. Make a shortcut on your home screen.

From the first step above tap on the three dots at the top right and open a panel on the right side and select "Add to Home Screen"
